

AIT Global Inc. (AIT)
9 Byrd Court, Kings Park, NY 11754
631-269-6713 www.aitglobal.com

A global association of information technologies professionals

March 13, 2007

To whom it may concern:

It was a great pleasure to have Ken Belva as one of our Expert Panelist Moderators at the February 28, 2007, 51st Annual Session of the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women. The event took place in United Nations Headquarters, NYC. There were 500 international guests in the audience, including a number of Ambassadors, Ministers, and dignitaries.

Ken proved a guiding light for the panelists, and for the audience. His preparation was impeccable. Ken is truly an expert in his field; his outstanding leadership ensured the success of his panel and contributed to the overall success of the entire conference.

Ken knew how to elicit the best information from the panelists, and handled audience questions in an expert manner. His panel was devoted to ensuring the safety of girls and young women from violence and discrimination on the Internet. Ken smoothly and transparently brought his vast InfoSec and CyberSec experience to the forefront. His panel was a highlight of the day's events, as evidenced by numerous of testimonials from audience members.

I highly recommend Ken as a presenter or moderator, at high-level industry InfoSec and CyberSec Conferences.

Sincerely,

Mike Lackey
President, AIT Global
Special Advisor to the Executive Director for the United Nations Alliance for ICT and Development
www.aitglobal.com